Subj: Coastal Area Survey for West German Amphibious Exercise and Landing Areas;

Ref:

1. During the visit of Admiral Burke, U.S.N. to the Federal Republic of Germany, discussions between Admiral Burke and Admiral Ruge, F.G.N. included the subject of determining suitable amphibious landing beaches and areas on the east coast of the Jutland peninsula and the east coast of West Germany from the Denmark-West German border to the West German-East German border. It was emphasized that for the Federal German Navy to participate in NATO amphibious exercises which are normally scheduled several times annually, and to increase the battle efficiency of its amphibious force suitable amphibious landing areas must be available.

2. Headquarters, United States European Command upon being queried as to availability of published information on the subject amphibious landing areas cited reference (a), which is currently held by the U.S. Naval Attache, Bonn, Germany.
